TABLE OF CONTENTS

Welcome to the 2022 Spring Issue of the UNT Off-Campus Housing Source, the student's guide to off-campus living in Denton, Texas. Our publication is distributed free of charge at The University of North Texas and throughout the greater Denton area. This publication is distributed during the calendar year and made available to all students attending campus tours, transfer orientations and seasonal housing fairs. The guide is also available to the general student population and university employees via campus-wide outdoor distribution racks locations, academic building, cafeterias, and residence halls on the UNT campus. Our university distribution is exclusive and protected.

We would like to recognize Auxiliary Services, Off Campus Student Services and Facilities Management for their partnership, cooperative guidance and efforts. We would also like to thank the apartment communities in Denton for their continued support and distribution efforts and the numerous retailer merchants who make this guide available to students and the general public throughout the greater Denton area during seasonal leasing peaks.

LIVING LARGE!

OFF-CAMPUS STUDENT LIVING COMMUNITIES IN DENTON

If you are attending the University of North Texas and have decided to live off-campus, you've just hit the student "Off-Campus Living" lottery! Many student living communities in Denton have some of the most extensive community features and amenities offered to college students anywhere in the United States. When you hear statements like "awesome" and "over-the-top", it's not an exaggeration. Denton's student living communities also boast some of the most professional staff members in the industry with the focus and priority of making the student living experience second to none. Another cool thing about these communities is that most of their residents will be students and there is nothing more enjoyable than living in an environment with "like-minded" residents. So, before you make that all important decision about where you'll be living next semester, we recommend that you begin with a comparative list of student living communities vs. conventional apartment communities. Student living communities are not for everyone but, once you take a closer look and compare your leasing contract exposure, transportation costs, campus parking expenses, furnished vs. unfurnished apartments, monthly utility bills, community features and planned social events, you'll find that LIVING LARGE really is quite affordable. Here are several reasons to consider an Off-Campus Student Living Community when looking for your next home in Denton, Texas. And Remember, THERE REALLY IS A DIFFERENCE!

Look for these symbols in the Apartment Listings Section on pages 35 - 47 to identify an off-campus student living communities, apartment communities serviced by the UNT shuttle bus route and pet friendly communities >

COMMUNITY FEATURES - Living at an Off-Campus Student Living Community is pretty awesome! Everything from resort-style swimming pools, outdoor grill areas, entertainment & gaming rooms, cybercafes, fitness centers to sports courts, tanning facilities, study-conference rooms, multi-leveled garages, pet parks and even planned social events. You name it and most Off-Campus Student Living Communities provide it! You can easily place an entertainment and services value in the hundreds of dollars per month on the features, amenities and services provided by these communities.

INDIVIDUAL LIABILITY LEASES - You are only responsible for your own monthly lease. You are literally leasing by the bedroom. For example, If you live in a 3 bedroom apartment with 2 other roommates, you are only responsible for your own negotiated monthly rent when payment is due. You are not responsible if your roommate's rent or other financial responsibilities.

FULLY FURNISHED - The apartment's common living area will be fully furnished with updated kitchens appliances. Usually, bedrooms will be furnished with a bed, dresser, desk, walk-in closet and your own private bathroom. Some communities even provide flat-screen TV's, complimentary cable and free Wifi. All you'll need are your clothes, a few personal items and you'll be ready to rock when the semester starts!

ROOMMATE MATCHING - You love the place but, you're looking for a roommate to offset your monthly rent. Most student living communities can provide roommate matching programs. Just ask!

UTILITY CAP - A Utility Cap is just like a utility allowance and it is provided on a per person basis. The standard is between $25-$40 per month. Unless you are a "utility-monster" your cap rate should cover your monthly utility bills. Utility Overages will be divided equally between roommates. This is as close as it gets to an "All Bills Paid" community.

TRANSPORTATION - Most Student Living Communities in Denton are either within walking or biking distance from campus or are serviced by a UNT Shuttle Bus Route (see page 16-17). Taking the shuttle to campus is both cost effective and a real time saver for students. Let's face it, the cost of gas and a campus parking permit can add up quickly, not to mention the time it takes to find a parking spot.

PLANNED SOCIAL EVENTS - Most Off-Campus Student Living Communities provide events so residence will continue to engage in campus life at the University. These student communities also host movie-watching events, pool parties and breakfast, lunch or dinner events throughout the semester! Such residents activities can really contribute to a great student living experience.

Below is a list of Off-Campus Student Living Communities ready to serve you and your off-campus housing and lifestyle needs . . .

LEASE AGREEMENT SIGNING YOUR LEASE

A lease agreement is a legally binding document and should not be taken lightly. Make sure that you fully understand your rights and responsibilities outlined in the lease agreement before signing. Never feel hurried when negotiating or reviewing your lease agreement and make sure the leasing agent reviews the contract with you line by line. If any individual listed on the contract does not fulfill their lease obligations, you will be held in breach of contract and legal action can and will be taken against you. This breach will effect your credit rating and your ability to lease another apartment in the future. All parties listed on the agreement will be held equally accountable. Do not assume anything concerning your lease agreement! Apartment communities are allowed to include any provisions they choose in their contracts so, if you don't understand a particular clause in the agreement, ask for clarification. If you do not agree with a particular provision, maybe your landlord can compromise. If any changes are made to the lease agreement, make sure to get changes in writing. Usually, you will need to date and put your initials next to any changes. Remember, never accept a verbal commitment, Get it in writing! If you are feeling pressured to sign a lease that you do not fully understand, Stop! Never lose sight that you are in control. If it doesn't feel right, take your business elsewhere. We recommend that you ask your community leasing agent a few questions before finalizing the deal. Below are a few suggestions and recommendations:

- Online Applications - If and whenever possible, we recommend that you sign your lease agreement in person. If that is not possible, make to call the community and review the agreement with the leasing manager.
- Roommates - We recommend all parties on the lease be present during the signing of the lease agreement.
- Lease Terms - Make sure you understand the length of time of the agreement.
- Walk the Unit - Before you occupy the your apartment, make sure to walk the space and make a list of damages or concerns before occupying the unit. We recommend taking a video or photos.
- Deposits - Get a receipt of your paid security deposit, find out if your deposit is fully refundable. Understand the difference between a fee versus a deposit. What is refundable and what is not.
- Rent Due Date - What is the amount of your monthly rent, what form of payment does your community accept, and when is your rent due date. Are there financial penalties for a late payment?
- Utilities - Who is responsible for payment of electricity, water, gas, trash, etc.
- Discounts or Specials - Many apartment communities offer student discounts, waive fees and have move-in specials. Review specials and then get it in writing.
- Pet Fees / Pet Deposits / Pet Rent & Rules - Review terms, conditions and community pet rules and policies. Clarify what monies are refundable.
- Lease Expiration - Review and have a clear understanding of your lease expiration date.
- Maintenance - Does the property provide 24hour emergency maintenance?
- Parking - Are there any parking rules, regulations or restrictions concerning your vehicle or visitor's vehicles? Find out what is the community's towing policy.
- Community Rules - Ask for a copy of the rules and regulations for your apartment community.
- Guest Policies - Make sure you understand your new apartments guest policies.
- Intention to Vacate - Usually a written notice must be submitted in advance. Find out the submission policy. Most communities will ask for a 30 or 60 day intention to vacate notice.

Fantastic food. Fantastic prices.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS WHO TO NOTIFY

Once you've signed your lease agreement, make sure to get your new mailing address for your apartment community. Even if you've pre-leased your apartment, you'll need to let the world know that you're going to have a new address. This can be accomplished at Eagle Post at the University Union, First Level, Room 112 or dropping by Denton's Main Post Office located just north of Downtown Square at 101 E. McKinney Street. Ask for a Change-of-Address form. You can also go on-line (see below).

ROOMMATE RELATIONS HELPFUL TIPS

Choosing a roommate will be one of the more important decisions you make while attending The University of North Texas. If you are thinking about roommates, we suggest that you choose wisely. Everyone has heard the stories and you may have actually encountered the circumstance of a roommate situation gone bad yourself. Statistics indicate that your emotional happiness and positive social experiences while attending college are directly related to your living environment and your relationships with roommates. Dealing with continual conflict and personal strife can cause stress and put a real cloud over your daily activities. No doubt, choosing the correct roommate is an important path to your mental health and well being. Remember that old wise tale, "your best friend isn't always the best roommate." Obviously, your emotional welfare at school should be a priority and so should your financial health. By now, you've weighed the costs of living off campus and yes, it might be somewhat more expensive than living the dorm-life. If you do it right, living off campus can be a rewarding experience, as well as an opportunity to set the groundwork for living on your own. Living off-campus can also establish your credit history. A word to the wise, roommates can effect your credit rating and an irresponsible roommate literally holds a good credit rating in the palm of their hands, not to mention thousands of dollars of future rents due. It might not be a bad idea to discuss exactly how your roommates intend to pay for their portion of the rent, utilities, etc. If possible, have a parent/guarantor confirm that there won't be any financial surprises during your lease agreement duration.

A growing trend for university students is "Roommate Contracts." You don't need a lawyer, just sit down and draw up a document on your own or look for a template on-line. The agreement should address lifestyle preferences, household rules, etc.. Once you've come to a mutually acceptable agreement, have your roommates sign the agreement. This may seem awkward, but it will prevent problems in the future and it will create an environment of respect. Here are a few things to consider while drawing up your roommate contract:

- Get each roommate's parent or parents as co-signers /guarantors on the lease agreement.
- Establish rules on when and how monthly rents and utilities will be paid.
- Create a personal folder for each person in the household (who should be contacted in case of an emergency, blood type, medical records and current prescriptions).
- Discuss study habits and the expected study environment. Establish some sort of daily hours for studying.
- Define a cleaning schedule for any common living areas like the living room, kitchen or shared bathroom.
- Discuss a food policy to determine if you will share a food expenses or shop individually.
- Establish lifestyle rules such as sleeping hours or personal habits like smoking or drinking.
- Weekend Guests - define your expectations and the responsibilities of visiting friends and guests.
- Calendar Review - Discuss upcoming events like class schedules, tests, social activities, job hours.
- Weekly Household Meetings - Get things out in the open, address any issue before it becomes a problem that can lead to stress.
- Transportation - Are you going to share a ride to campus? If so, create a carpool budget.
- Relationships - Create a significant others policy. Boyfriend and girlfriend issues can become real problems.

MOVING INFORMATION HELPFUL IDEAS

Now that you've found a place to call home, you'll need to select a moving date. Don't underestimate the task! A well planned and organized move will take hours where an unorganized one can turn into a weekend event. Once you have signed your lease, ask the apartment manager about any restrictions concerning move in hours at your new community. Don't hesitate to talk about your upcoming move with the leasing agent, they are experienced pros and will be able to assist you with just about any question or concern you might have about your upcoming move. They may even have a few suggestions. If you're just moving personal items and none of the big stuff, you won't need much help. But, if you've got furniture you'll need to make moving arrangements with family or friends who can provide an SUV, pickup truck, van or you may also consider a rental truck (see page77). If you are least 18 years old with a valid drivers license, you should qualify. We suggest that you make your reservations with a truck rental company a week in advance of your move-in date. If you're planning on moving during the weekend, it might be a good idea to make those reservations a few weeks in advance. Weekends can be get pretty crazy so, always confirm your reservation a few days before you actually pick up the rental truck. We also recommend that you make arrangements to pick up your rental truck as early in the morning as possible (long lines could mean an hours wait - no fun). Most rental centers also provide items you can rent or purchase such as dollies, boxes, blankets, tie-down ropes, tape, blankets, bubble wrap and other moving supplies. These items will be sold at a premium so, if you're interested in saving a few bucks, make a list of supplies needed and drop by your local super store before your move. This way, you'll be prepared and ready to go on moving day.

Here are a few time saving ideas to keep your move organized: 1.) Be Realistic About What You Pack - let the size of your off-campus apartment determine what you bring. Remember, you can always bring more at a later date. 2.) Pack in Advance - start packing a week before your moving date. 3.) Pack Room Specific Items - place an empty box or two in each room and begin from there. 4.) Mark Boxes - clearly mark on the side of each box the specific room and contents within. Directional arrows will keep things "right-side-up" during the move and makes unpacking that much easier. 5.) Secure Your Items - use your towels, casual t-shirts, pants or whatever non-newsprint items you can find to secure any breakable items when packing. Be mindful that newspaper ink will bleed and damage personal items. 6.) Pack Personal Items Separately - keep a smaller open box of important personal items with you on moving day. Things get hectic enough and you don't need to misplace your keys, wallet, phone or important paperwork during your move.

Remember, make the most of your move and have a couple of friends help. Let's face it, it's always more fun when you do things with friends, even a move! Show a little love and appreciation by throwing a "move-in" pizza party. Once you arrive at your new place with all your boxes in tow, call a local pizza delivery place and have them deliver a couple pizzas. As far as drinks go, get a cooler and load up your favorite beverages. Never underestimate the power of good friends, good food and cold drinks!

Last but not least, save all your receipts. In most cases your moving expenses are tax deductible. And don't forget to ask the truck rental company if they offer student discounts. Most storage and truck rental companies in Denton offer student discounts!

A Free Late Night Lyft Ride Service runs 7 Days a Week. Starts at 2:00 am - Ends 7:00 am.

The UNT Shuttle Service is always evolving to meet student needs for both the Denton main campus and Discovery Park campus. Shuttle bus routes are designed to enhance student and pedestrian foot traffic and safety by keeping shuttle buses on the perimeter of both campuses. Routes arriving and departing from off-campus locations will now drop off riders at two primary locations, the University Union at Union Circle and the Bus Transfer Station located at Lot 20 on North Texas Blvd. Campus Circular Routes will travel between the Union Circle and Lot 20 stops at various designated points on campus. The UNT Shuttle Bus Service is free to everyone on campus, that's right... the service is FREE! If you are interested in riding the DCTA Connect Bus Service you will need to provide a valid UNT ID for free passage. As you look for off-campus housing, remember to ask if the community is serviced by the UNT Shuttle Bus Service. This is a great way to save time and money on campus parking fees. It also supports green initiatives at the University of North Texas and the city of Denton.

The UNT Shuttle Bus Route Service operates Monday thru Friday, with the Mean Green Night Rider (MGNR) and Mean Green Plus providing evening and weekend services during the academic school year and summer months.

Another campus transportation program provided to students during the academic school year is the Late Night Lyft Ride Service. Students can request late night transportation within the Lyft zone on the main campus. You can reach the e-ride dispatcher at 940-565-3014. This service is for students with a valid UNT ID. At the time of the call, callers must give their name, requested pick up location and their requested campus destination. TRANSPORTATION SERVICES UNT CAMPUS PARKING

Whether you choose to live on or off campus and you own a motor vehicle, a permit is required to park on campus. Parking is an auxiliary operation and receives no direct funding from either the state or the university. Parking operates through parking permits generated from students, faculty/staff and visitors parking on campus. Controlled parking areas include all campus parking lots and most campus streets. Signs have been placed to designate parking areas. Any student parking a motor vehicle on campus, must obtain a parking permit, which will allow the vehicle to be parked in areas designated by the permit. The university no longer utilizes metered parking around campus, hourly parking is now processed by Parkmobile. Their pay for parking App is easy to use and a perfect service for the student on the go. Just download the Parkmobile App and you'll be set. Bicycles are not charged a fee to park on campus. Please note, the university is not responsible for stolen or damaged bicycles. It is highly recommended that you lock your bike when parking on campus.

UNT Transportation Services is responsible for issuing parking permits of all types. In addition, transportation services takes payments for permits, all campus citations and coordinates visitor parking and special event parking reservations. Parking permits and citations can be paid online, visit: transportation.unt.edu/parking for additional information on visitor parking, parking permits, parking regulations, Parkmobile, parking maps, parking garage locations and frequently asked questions. CAMPUS GROWTH

IMPROVING THE OFF-CAMPUS STUDENT EXPERIENCE

The University of North Texas continues to move forward as one of the premier institutions of higher learning in the State of Texas and a top research institution regionally and nationally. The university has gone to great lengths to improve the student's on-campus and off-campus living experience with the addition of several facilities that are currently under construction or have been recently completed. Projects include the Studio Arts Building (completion in spring 2022), the Bruzzy UNT Golf Facility (2021), Joe Greene Residence Hall (2019), the UNT Welcome Center (2019), Eagle Landing Dining Hall (2021), The Lovelace & McNatt Families Indoor Athletic Practice Facility (2020), and the expansion of Parking Lot 20 and the UNT Shuttle Bus Transfer Station (2019). With the completion of the University Union renovation (2016), the addition of the Art & Visual Arts Buildings (2019), Rawlings Residence Hall (2015) and several other renovations like the UNT Basketball Coliseum throughout the main campus, The University of North Texas campus is experiencing unprecedented growth.

The addition of UNT's Welcome Center, Joe Greene Residence Hall and the University's free standing Eagle Landing Dining Hall have had an immediate impact on the student's on-campus living experience. Other University projects, such as the expansion of Parking Lot 20 and the addition of UNT's Shuttle Bus Transfer Station on North Texas Blvd. have greatly enhanced the off-campus student's daily transit experience.

With UNT Dining Services' Eagle Landing now operational, off-campus students might want to re-think their budget and secure an off-campus commuter meal plan (see page 10). A commuter meal plan just might be the way to go in Fall 2022. And, as students navigate their way living off-campus, there are three major considerations to remember, Shelter, Sleep and Diet! Prioritizing "THE BIG 3" will ensure that you will give yourself the best chance to succeed while attending the University of North Texas.

The two projects that will effect off-campus students first and foremost, will be the parking expansion of Parking Lot 20 and the university's Shuttle Bus Transfer Station on the west side of campus. There is finally a reprieve from the daily anxieties of campus traffic congestion, finding a place to park and then getting to class on time. Students can now park at Lot 20, walk over to the shuttle bus transfer station and take a direct campus bus route to class. This is an exciting time at the University at North Texas and the city of Denton and with all these campus facilities now operational, it's easy to see why the university is experiencing exponential growth. So, check out what's happening around campus this spring.

PARKING
STATION

An additional 1,100 parking spaces have been added at Parking Lot 20 along with a new covered shuttle bus transfer station. The Transfer Bus Station includes restrooms, student rider seating, vending machines and shuttle bus route status screens (to come at a later date). The UNT Transportation Services Shuttle Bus Transfer Station acts as a covered pick-up and drop-off point servicing the west side of campus.

UNT Dining Services

dining.unt.edu/eagle

Eagle Landing is designed as a setting for scholarly and social interaction between students, faculty and staff. The dining hall is two-stories, providing seating for 700 and offers three fresh meals a day with late night options. Eagle Landing features several unique cuisine experiences and numerous seating layouts. The Landing opened its doors in late January 2021 and offers a variety of dining experiences. Congratulations to Auxiliary and Dining Services for providing the university community with a nationally recognized facility with state-of-the-art food services for the on-campus and off-campus student community. For information on Dining Services off-campus commuter meal plan options, please visit: dining.unt.edu or call: 940-565-2462.
